Germans Continue Assault—Belgian Priests Slaughtered—Huns Threaten Holland

GERMANS CONTINUE ASSAULT ON CAMBRAI

BRITISH ARMY HEADQUARTERS IN FRANCE, March 22.—The Germans today continued their assault against the positions in the Cambrai sector, notably in the region of Croiselles and Hargicourt. At least 40 divisions have been identified on the battle front. No such concentration of artillery has been seen since the war began. On the southern battlefield a bitter struggle was waged today. The enemy had 1000 guns in one small sector—one for every 12 yards. Severe fighting was proceeding this morning in St. Ledges, south west of Croiselles.

Prisoners by the score formed a long line behind the prison bars, shaking hands with Weinberg as he walked to his freedom.

GERMANS CLAIM 16,000 MEN TAKEN BY THEM

LONDON, March 22.—The Germans on Friday along most all of the battlefront continued their attacks in great strength. At several points the enemy made gains against the British, but at others he was repulsed in counter attacks, according to the British official communication issued tonight.

The statement says the British losses invariably have been considerable, but not out of proportion to the magnitude of the battle. The enemy's losses continue very heavy, all advances being made at great sacrifices.

The greatest courage is being shown by the British troops.

High School Election March 29

The High School trustees are to be elected this year to succeed J. B. Brooks and Edward Hoffman. The election will be held in the High School building on March 29. It is probable that both Brooks and Hoffman will be candidates to succeed themselves.

One change in the law on school elections is noted here. Formerly elections were held on the first Friday in April. It is now held on the last Friday in March, so that those who were registered on the old register could vote. The register closed April 1.

Another change is that candidates for office must announce the fact by filing with the secretary of the board of trustees a written statement, signed by him, saying that he would be a candidate for school trustee.

BIG BULLETIN BOARD FOR LETTERS

Propose Show Case For Thousands of Letters From Soldier Boys

What is probably the most unique and thoroughly interesting proposal that has been a result of the war stir in Richmond is the idea of Secretary of the Chamber of Commerce Ames to erect on a centrally located site, a great glass-covered bulletin board which, by the kindness of the recipients, will contain the thousands of letters, post cards and pictures that come through the mails to Richmond daily from our soldier boys at the front, in camps and traveling. These letters contain some of the most human and interesting things that happen in camp, and little remarks that indicate the true feelings of our average American soldier boy away from home and in strange surroundings in the service of his country. The board will serve as a great advertiser of the war and a wonderful stimulator of patriotism, as well as a first-hand information bureau as to the movements of our vast armies.

Those in the city who have no boys at the front will find a great pleasure in reading of the adventures of other people's boys and those who treasure a picture, or a letter, or a little personal souvenir from their loved ones who are away, will be pleased to know that thousands of other people will have the pleasure of seeing and reading it, too. Then those who wait in vain for an indication from their boy who is negligent in writing that he is safe and happy and in good hands, will get some satisfaction from reading letters from other boys in the same section with their boy. Thus the board will act as a great neutralizer of human emotions.

Then those pacifists and pro-Germans, those anti-Americans, those Kaiser sympathizers, those propagandists, humbugs, traitors, cowards and slackers, those draft dodgers and "too proud to fight" bums, can stand before these letters from the hearts of the American soldier boys who are fighting for God and their country and the cause of Democracy, and learn just how low-down and insignificant they are, just how much they and their small mindedness amount to.

And it is not a difficult plan to carry out. Appoint a man, or some men in town to take charge of the board and have him or them keep in touch with mothers and fathers and friends of soldiers who will bring their communications and pictures to them to be placed in the board. They can be assured that their treasures will be returned to them after a few days unharmed and whole.

The News proposes to Mr. Ames, as the conceiver of this great thing, that he go, today, among the real estate men and get permission to use a Macdonald avenue frontage of say thirty feet on a vacant lot as a site for this board. It won't hurt the lot. Then there are lumber companies in town who handle the sort of lumber necessary for the board, and the city employs laborers who can dig post-holes and do carpenter work. And there are many places in town where glass is sold.

Once the board is up the letters will come natural and the thing will work automatically.

POPE SENDS PEACE PLEA TO AMERICA

ROME, Thursday, March 21.—A plea for lasting peace is made by Pope Benedict in his Easter message to the United States, which he sends through the Associated Press. The Holy Father's Message says:

On this Solemn occasion no better wish can be made to the country so dear to our hearts than that the Divine Redeemer may grant a realization of the desire of all, that is, a healing of the existing hatred and the concluding of a lasting peace based on the foundations of justice, fear of God and love of humanity, giving to the world a new organization of peoples and nations united under the aegis of this religion so inspiring to sobriety, peace and kindred civilization.

INTERESTING NOTES FROM LIBRARY

Story Hour

The last of these delightful travel stories will be held this afternoon at 2 o'clock in the children's room. The subject of Mr. Courtenay Monsen for this lecture will be "In the Wake of Columbus," which will be illustrated with pictures of the West Indies.

With the completion of these series of stories the story hours will be resumed at the West Side branch every Saturday morning at 11 o'clock.

Camp Library Campaign.

Now, while the response for books for the soldiers have been very good, still Richmond is behind in her quota, which it is hoped will be made up before the campaign closes Monday evening. Do your share, and DO IT NOW.

Lectures.

A series of lectures were delivered to the senior students of the English class of the Richmond High School by the librarian, Miss McNeill, on "The Use of the Library," at the library. The series was concluded yesterday.

Exhibits.

The exhibit table next week will be devoted to "Interesting Biographies." We may state that another way, biographies are interesting, insomuch that they relate the actual doings and struggles of some actual person and gives an insight on his thoughts and the things that influenced him to reach the fame that he did. If you would understand those misunderstood beings, the artists, read "Rodin, the Man and His Art."

A bulletin board is posted in the library, the space of which is devoted to food conservation, and on it may be found some very helpful receipts and suggestions for the busy housewives who wish to live up to the demands of the government. New material is being added all the time and so it is kept very up-to-date.

Mrs. Grace Harris, 123 Macdonald avenue, charged with leaving her 3-year-old child alone in the house for hours at a time, has been arrested and fined $50. The Humane Officer swore out the warrant.

Immense Enlargement Santa Fe

New Passenger Station and Seventy Miles of Trackage.

While in San Francisco yesterday the editor of the News spent some time around the new Santa Fe building there, trying to confirm the rumors in circulation in Richmond regarding the proposed improvements and enlargements of the local Santa Fe yards. While no official there would commit himself to any direct statement, no official denied that there were to be improvements.

It remained for a representative of the News to interview W. B. Trull, manager of the Santa Fe division in Richmond, on the proposed enlargements and extension of the freight trackage in the local yards. Mr. Trull very willingly told what the proposal was.

At the present time there are forty-five miles of trackage in the Santa Fe yards here, in use for switching and freight car storage. New tracks are being laid daily and when the work is completed Richmond will have the largest shipping and terminal yards on the Pacific Coast. There will be seventy miles of trackage connecting with the Santa Fe roundhouse here, including branch lines to factories. Old lines will be made longer and new lines will be laid.

To further facilitate this work to make more room for the tracks, the present passenger station will be moved and a new one built at Garrard and Macdonald avenues. The new station will be modern in every way and will be very pleasing in design. Its building will start very soon and will be completed early in the fall. The object of the Santa Fe in giving Front avenue to the city was to open up this section and to allow more room for track laying. The improvements will reach to Ferry Point also, where an intricate system of tracks will be laid for the handling of the huge tonnage of freight that is sure to be a result of this enlargement.

Incidentally, this means the purchasing of new switch engines and the employment of more men. Men will be needed to continue the track-laying work, to man the new engines and to handle the freight, as well as new dispatchers to see that no two engines get into a controversy over the right of way on the complicated track system.

These facts rather blow up the baloon of public opinion that say the Santa Fe freight will be diverted into the Southern Pacific lines.

Contest Grows Intense

The attitude of the young ladies working in the photoplayer's contest is one of determination. Realizing the tremendous opportunity in the outcome of the contest department finds a great majority of them working hard, despite the threatening weather.

The opportunity is extraordinary, both from the standpoint of sharing in the distribution of awards, as well as the honor that goes with the winning out against the entire field.

Some changes are being made in the standing, showing the effort put forth by the candidates. Watch the paper and keep your favorite within shooting distance. Start today and make the next few weeks the most profitable in your whole life.

Herewith is printed the names of candidates up to date, with the votes now to their credit:

The Editor Says:

MORE FRENCH AND LESS GERMAN

The public schools of North Dakota will no longer teach German. They have substituted French for German, and will encourage the teaching of the former language while forbidding the teaching of the latter. And there is a good deal of plain, practical sense in the proposition, too, rising over and above prejudice.

When the war is over we are going to do more business with France than with Germany, no matter how the war ends, nor when. The people of France and the United States will intermingle more than they ever have. Many of our boys will remain in France, and many Frenchmen will come to this country. So it is reasonable to believe that the French language will be very useful to many persons in this country after the war is over.

As for German, that language is bound to dwindle in importance. For generations to come it will be a sort of hated language. Thousands of good American citizens of German descent, who formerly spoke German, no longer do so, and say they will never do so again. If the war goes on much longer, and the atrocities committed by Germany continue, as they promise to continue, it is not unreasonable to believe that the day may come when to speak German in his country will brand one as disloyal to his fellows. There is every reason to believe that we shall have more use for French in the future than we shall have for German.

It is said Ned Green's income tax this year will be $3,260,000, leaving him only about $1,740,000 to live on for a year. But the worst of it is Uncle Sam is getting ready to pinch Ned for about 90 per cent next year, upon the hypothesis that a gentleman living economically can make both ends meet on $500,000 a year.

The recent rains mean big crops. There is always something to be thankful for if you just look around for it.

The searchlight of war has brought out many interesting facts, and one of these is that the vaunted German efficiency will not always stand the test of comparison with American efficiency.

A POINT OF VIEW

Wheat is up to $2.50 a bushel and scarce at that. Soon there may be none at all, at any price, and many are kicking. That is according to how one looks at it. As far as we are concerned, if the other fellow will go over yonder and do the fighting in the trenches, leaving us in safety and comfort with loved ones at home, he can have our wheat, and we will manage to get along pretty well on corn bread, rice and other similar good eats.

The people who are being fooled most at this time are the shortsighted moneygrabbers and profiteers who think they are going to get away with all the money they are robbing the people of. It would pay them much better to be fair and just with the people and patriotic and square with their government. The government will have them by the scuff of the neck before long.

A Pennsylvania politician declares that the church-going people of that state will elect the next governor. If this is an accurate prediction, it will be—let's see—the first time Pennsylvania has elected a Democratic governor since 1890.

The government does not exempt a man who supports his mother-in-law, for the reason, we suppose, that a man who lives with his mother-in-law is too experienced a fighter to warrant the government in dispensing with his services.

Plant a garden and do it now. The outdoor exercise, say an hour each day, is very beneficial to health, and good is accomplished at the same time. If you raise more than you need for home consumption, give it to the Social Service Bureau, and they will give it to the poor and needy.

You can't curb the intolerant spirit at all. Even after you have yielded to its views on religion and politics, and fail to agree with it about the conduct of the war it will pillory you as a traitor and demand your immediate execution.

These days you can't be a real American and lazy at the same time.

Give Books For Boys "Over There"

The Richmond Public Library is making an intensive campaign this week for books for soldiers and sailors.

Many kinds of good books are wanted. It is clear, however, that books which served past generations and have no message for present day people, would not be useful. Nor will books for girls engage the serious attention of warriors. But it is interesting to note that non-fiction circulates in camps as much as fiction. This war is so full of new engineering and technical features that men seeking promotion have to study mathematics and many technical subjects. City-trained youths are for the first time put in charge of horses. Country-trained boys are figuring trajectories. This diversified training calls for many trade and technical books.

The standard books of poetry, essays, drama, philosophy, biography and history are all useful. The presence of many men of foreign extraction, not skilled in English, makes a demand for boys' books.

Books on the war are in great demand. Empey's "Over the Top" leads in popularity. Recently published volumes of European travel and history are acceptable.

There is no danger of giving too good books nor too many. Let some go that can not be replaced, the giving of which means sacrifice.

The campaign is being conducted by Miss McNeill, so take the books to her TODAY and she will do the rest.

Rev. H. K. Sanborn will attend a meeting of directors of the Mt. Herman Association, at Mt. Herman, today.

NEWS MAN LEAVES

Ray Bushnell, our witty and devilish night foreman, is leaving (sure) this afternoon for Kelly Field, Tex. He received his call yesterday and will depart at 2 o'clock this afternoon. The Mayor will make a speech, the bands will play, the school children sing, women weep, girls shriek and fellows rejoice while the triumphant procession winds it way to the station, and there, after three cheers and a hip, hip, hurrah, our conquering hero will depart to prepare for the annihilation of the kaiser.

Perhaps his departure will not be heralded with such loud acclaim, but, nevertheless, he will leave behind many warm hearts who wish him well wher'er he goes.

Miss Helma Smith and party of college friends are spending the week end at Guerneville.

Mrs. E. W. Byrn has been at home sick for over a week, but is back at her post in the real estate office.

J. McBride and W. Pitzer left yesterday and are on their way to San Pedro to join the Naval Reserve.

Merwin Trobridge, William Jones and S. Haralbokis leave today for Kelly Field, Texas, where they will enter as truck drivers in the Quartermaster's Corps.

Mrs. H. C. Donnelly, who has operated on for appendicitis a week ago, left the hospital yesterday and returned to her home greatly improved.

President Clark of the Chamber of Commerce is up against a brain-tangling problem—whom to appoint on that Home Building Company committee. Many who have the requisite ability are too busy to give the necessary time and work. It is a big job.

Hart Thrills in "Wolves of the Trail"

Wm. S. Hart, the Thomas H. Ince star, in his newest Artcraft picture, "Wolves of the Rail," now at the Richmond Theater, performs a feat that eclipses any "thriller" heretofore seen on the screen. To prevent a locomotive from crashing into a train loaded with soldiers he gallops madly along the onrushing engine, swings himself into the engine cab, throws the reverse lever and brings the locomotive to a standstill.

In making this scene Hart was compelled to do without the usual rehearsals, and to ride a horse that was new to motion picture work and "engine-shy."

Jack Alloway, formerly employed at the Pullman Company, is at Seattle, according to word received here from him.

A building permit was issued to M. Slattery yesterday for the erection of a $3000 flat at Eighth and Macdonald avenue.

Richmond merchants will never head off the Oakland trade, nor any part thereof, until they advertise more liberally, and they may as well digest this fact first as last.

Narbett Starts Hercules Work

Captain James N. Narbett arrived in this city Thursday night and went to Hercules yesterday morning, preparatory to starting the great work of improvement there. An order for lumber to increase the dining hall at the powder works to a seating capacity of 500 was entered at the Tilden lumber office yesterday. This will be the first work.

Narbett resigned his position as a captain in the Engineer Corps of the United States army on the request of the Hercules Company to take up the work of designing and directing the building in Hercules.

Scouts and Pupils Pledge Help

The school children and boy scouts will help and willingly co-operate with the War Garden committee to make such a garden a success here if it is started, was the answer given a reporter of the News by Superintendent of Schools Helms and Rev. Linder when questioned on the subject last night.

Professor Helms said that the children of the Washington school are cultivating a small piece on Cutting boulevard, while pupils of other schools are busy in that line at their respective homes.

Rev. Linder said that his scouts may always be counted on to help in any worthy cause at any time.

Social Enjoyed By Young People

A very enjoyable time was spent by the young people at the Wesley Methodist Church last night, where a box social was held by the Epworth League. Some twenty soldier boys were present as guests of honor.

Boxes filled with lunch prepared by the girls was auctioned off, the highest bidder having the pleasure to share it with the fair packer of same. Games, stunts and a pleasant program followed.

The program consisted of stunts by the young people of the various churches; song, Miss Agnes Peipero; monologue, Tom Bastin; piano duet, Miss Stella Shoemaker and Miss Anna Smith.

The beautiful decorations of the church were arranged especially for this occasion by Mrs. Baker, Mrs. Howard, Miss Anna Smith and Tyrell Anderson. The entertainment committee consisted of Miss Rose Little, chairman, William Hoskins, Harold Baldwin and Glenn Green.

Milk Price Low If It Is Good

Milk is one article of food which should be very carefully handled, for nothing is so susceptible of becoming tainted as milk. Especial care must be taken of milk also for the reason that the babies and the children are vitally effected, and when it comes to the health and the welfare of our babies and our children a few cents one way or another cuts no figure at all. We would rather pay two-bits for a quart of milk we had confidence in than five cents for a gallon that might have suspicion of unsanitary conditions.

In this connection the Health Department of Richmond, under supervision of Dr. Blake, deserves credit. It has made some enemies among certain dealers, but it has guarded the public health as to milk very carefully and conscientiously. Nobody should be opressed, in the milk business or any other business, but there are certain rules of sanitation which we all have to observe, and especially is this true as to milk. There is a lot of expense about the milk business, also, which we on the outside of it never consider. The bottle is worth six or seven cents, to start with; it has to be thoroughly cleaned thirty times each month; a new cap has to be put on it thirty times a month, and it has to be delivered to the consumer thirty times a month, all of which runs up into money, labor and care. On the whole 12 cents a quart, these war times of high prices, does not seem to be excessive.

The two Stiefvater groceries are doing a whopping big business these days and haven't time to even attend the prayer meetings or give a hungry newspaper man a pleasant smile. Julius says profits are smaller but volume of trade larger.

Two big battleships out in the bay. They look grim and like real business, too.

MAYOR'S PROCLAMATION

Whereas, Monday and Tuesday, the 25th and 26th days o March, 1918, are to be devoted to a great public demonstration of loyalty, to the end that our people may become aroused to the need of the fullest performance by us of the patriotic duty which we owe to our country in this her hour of greatest trial.

Now, therefore, by virtue of the authority vested in me as Mayor of the City of Richmond, I hereby call upon every loyal and patriotic resident of this city to participate as fully as possible in this great demonstration.

I hereby request that every store and other place of business be closed on Tuesday, March 26, between the hours of 2 p. m. and 4:30 p. m., and that on both Monday and Tuesday evenings no fraternal, social or other meetings be held so that there may be nothing to interfere with the great outpouring of our people at the patriotic rallies to be held on those evenings.

W. L. LANE,
Mayor of the City of Richmond.

Met Henry Cutting over in "the city" yesterday. He was not in jail, and appeared as fat and sassy as ever. The fight he is making is not a matter of money but of right and principle, and he says he will scrap it out on that line if it takes all summer.
